Mini-mall proposed

Frank Mehelic

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer
PONTON BEACH — The subdivided plat for a new mini-mall all being developed by Frank Mehelic was approved by the Village Board of Trustees Tuesday.

Mehelic, a former Nameoki Township highway commissioner, presented the plat to the trustees Oct. 22 and it was held for review by the village engineer until Tuesday.

THE PROPOSED MALL would be built on the west side of Illinois Route 111, across from the village hall. The property is zoned for business use, officials said.

Mehelic's plat eliminates one parcel from a 40-acre tract. That parcel, Mehelic said, will eventually be used for a dental clinic.

Village engineer John Hales did not study the plat, village officials said, because he drew up the plat. Hales indicated he drew the plat according to village codes.

VILLAGE ATTORNEY Keith Jensen said he studied the plat and it meets village codes.

Trustee Lou Whitsell asked who would review the plans for the mall if Hales had a conflict as Mehelic's and the village's engineer.

When Mehelic submits his plans, including electrical, water and sewer plans, Hales or another engineer may review them to see that they meet village codes, Trustee Don Rea said.

Top county school job sought

Vasil Eftimoff this week became the fourth Granite Citian to enter the 1986 Democratic primary for election as Madison County regional superintendent of schools.

"With the many education reforms that are planned, experience and leadership are needed in this office, not on-the-job training," Eftimoff told the Press-Record. The incumbent, Harold "Gene" Briggs, is retiring.

"I am experienced in teaching elementary, junior high and high school students. I have 21 years' experience in special education and I also have helped children for more than 20 years on the Co-ordinated Youth Services board," Eftimoff said.

Vasil Eftimoff

THE CANDIDATE served on the former Granite City High School Board in 1949-50 and was a founding member of the Granite City Community Unit District 9 board, serving from 1950 to 1954. Now 61, he retired in 1983 as an administrative assistant to the district superintendent.

Elected in 1982 to the Madison County Board from County District 21, Eftimoff serves on its Executive Board, Grants Committee and Central Services Committee. He is chairman of the Delinquent Tax Department and is the county board's Democratic delegate to the Illinois Department of Public Aid.

The Granite City High School graduate holds a bachelor of arts degree from Illinois College, Jacksonville, a master of education degree from St. Louis University and a director of special education certificate from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

His wife, Anita Kendall Eftimoff, is a doctor of education. Their son, James Kendall Eftimoff, is a graduate of Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas.

WITH 33 YEARS as a teacher and school administrator — including serving as a state hearing officer, state surrogate parent, coach, counselor and director of guidance — Eftimoff also has been active in community and professional organizations, including the Council for Exception Children and the Southwestern Illinois Hearing and Speech Association.

He has served on the Granite City Public Library Board and has been active in Granite City Rotary and Optimists, Boy Scouts, Variety Club telethons, Slavic Friends, United Way, Community Chest, Jaycees, Disabled American Veterans, American Legion, Eagles and Lincoln Athletic Club.

Eftimoff ran for Madison County superintendent of schools in 1958 and for regional superintendent in 1974 and 1978. The region consists of Madison County.

A former Democratic precinct committeeman, he has been active in the campaigns of U.S. Senators Paul Simon and Alan Dixon.

Poltergeists parade tonight

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

Hobgoblins, ghosts and assorted monsters will take to the streets tonight, with a large percentage of trick-or-treaters expected to converge in Downtown Granite City for the annual Halloween parade starting at 7.

Granite City Moose Lodge 272 will sponsor the Halloween Night parade in cooperation with the Downtown Granite City Merchants group.

A TOTAL OF $150 in cash awards, plus gifts from downtown stores, will be offered participants whose costumes are judged to be outstanding.

First, second and third-place awards will be presented in three categories — best dressed, most original and funniest.

The event is open to all area residents, both adults and children.

PARADERS SHOULD assemble no later than 6:45 p.m. today in front of the City Hall on Niedringhaus Avenue, where identification numbers will be assigned by Women of the Moose Chapter 247 and lodge members.

Speculating about the chance of inclement weather tonight, Walter Anders, parade chairman, said Wednesday, "If at all possible we are going to make it happen, unless there is a very heavy rain."

If rain should intervene, judging of the parade contestants will take place beneath the canopied area of the First Granite City National Bank at 20th Street and Edison Avenue.

Among this year's judges will be Granite City Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield, Dant Fricke, president of the Granite City Jaycees and Mel Havron of Eagles Aerie 1126.

ESCORTED by Granite City police, the masqueraders will move south on State Street to 19th Street, along 19th to Delmar Avenue, north on Delmar to Niedringhaus and back to the City Hall for the costume judging.

Police chiefs in Granite City,

Venice and Madison have set the hours of 6 to 9 tonight for youthful trick-or-treaters to visit residences in their own neighborhoods.

Residents are being encouraged to turn on front porch lights and yard lights to welcome small visitors. The extra lighting also will provide added protection for the youngsters.

WHILE TRICK OR TREATING, or going to and from the downtown Halloween parade, smaller children should be accompanied by an adult or a responsible older sister or brother, police said.

MADISON POLICE Chief Bill Papa said auxiliary police and Explorer Post 10-4 members will be on the streets, augmenting Madison Police Department personnel.

St. Elizabeth Medical Center will X-ray any suspicious treats between 7 and 10 tonight in the radiology department. Parents should enter the hospital through either door on the 21st Street side of SEMC.

Hoosier kids send greetings by balloon; 42 land in GC tree

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

What goes up in Evansville, Ind. and lands in a Granite City tree? Forty-two balloons.

Shannon Gergen, 4, looked out of his grandmother's window at 4123 Rode Ave. Tuesday morning and spotted a bunch of balloons in her tree.

HIS GRANDMOTHER, Bernice Gergen, pulled the balloons down and noticed there were cards attached to the strings.

Because of the rain, the cards were wet, so she laid them out to dry.

When Dean Gergen Sr. of 4013 Rode came to pick up his son, he looked at the cards and noticed they were from an Evansville school district.

"I CALLED REITZ High School today and told them we found 42 of the balloons," Gergen said Wednesday. "I couldn't believe that 42 of them landed in one tree."

Amazingly, the balloons traveled the 150 miles between Evansville and Granite City in about 21 hours.

Mark Freese, coordinator of the balloon release program in Evansville, said the balloons were released as part of a school fund-raiser for the restoration of the Statue of Liberty.

HE SAID THAT in a drive from Oct. 21 to 25, students were asked to donate money for the restoration. Students who donated money also filled out a card, later attached to a balloon.

Freese said a program was held on the Reitz High School football field during the mid-morning hours on Monday. The program featured a 26-foot replica of the Statue of Liberty, constructed by the school's art department.

"The school is positioned high on a hill and the wind was really whipping Monday," Freese said. "It was so bad we attached the balloons to two ladders so they wouldn't get away."

FREESE SAID the balloons were to be released at 1 p.m. but the wind was popping some of the balloons, so

NO. 1 BALLOON FINDER, Shannon Gergen, displays some of the 42 helium balloons he found Tuesday in his grandmother's tree. Embellished with a picture of the Statue of Liberty and the logo "Freedom for All," the balloons were sent aloft Monday at a school in Evansville, Ind.

Game blamed for death

PONTON BEACH — A game of "Russian roulette" may have led to the death of a Pontoon Beach man Sunday, police said.

James Kevin Potmas, 27, of 4036 Kathy Drive, Apt. 9, died at 11:15 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 27, from an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head, they said.

THE INDICATIONS are it was a game of Russian roulette," said Pontoon Beach Police Chief Chet Bailey. The investigation is continuing. We're awaiting some results from the crime lab."

A .38-caliber revolver was involved in Mr. Potmas' death, Bailey said. Russian roulette involves spinning the chambers of a handgun before firing it.

Three other people were present at the time of Mr. Potmas' death, Bailey said. Police were summoned by one of the three from a neighbor's telephone, he said.

A ROOFER, Mr. Potmas had been employed at Lakeside Roofing Pontoon Beach for the past eight months.

Funeral services are being conducted this afternoon in Herrin, Ill. An obituary is given elsewhere in the day's issue.

Pontoon grabs acres

PONTON BEACH — The village is 153 acres bigger following approval of an annexation Tuesday. The property lies east and south of Highway 162 and includes land owned by Robert J. Rickert, Gary Wright, Mapco and a tower owned by Columbia Broadcasting System Inc.

THE ANNEXED AREA, comprised of business and agricultural land, is zoned B-2 general business.

The Village Board of Trustees approved the annexation after Gary Wright notified the Third Circuit Court for the annexation. Madison County Associate Judge Edward Ferguson approved the annexation Tuesday morning.

This is the second major annexation move by the village, following annexation of land and business along Illinois Route 111 on Sept. 24.

ANNEXED at that time were L. Ross, 84 Lumber, Frito Lay Inc., Five Star Contractors, Vesel Inc. and Air Products and Chemicals Inc. on business on Lake Drive south of Highway 162 to State Aid.

That area is zoned B-2 general business, except for the subdivision, which is zoned for single-family residences.

Woman's attacker gets 12-year prison term

A Granite City man must serve 12 years in prison following his guilty plea Oct. 16 to charges of aggravated criminal sexual assault attempt and home invasion.

Everett L. Grubbs Jr., 23, of 3009 W. 30th St. was sentenced by Madison County Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill.

Grubbs was charged Sept. 3 after Granite City police arrested him at Niedringhaus Avenue and Walnut Street. At the time of his arrest, police were responding to a call from a woman in the 1700 block of Walnut. She said a man broke into her home and attempted to rape her.

While police were enroute to the scene, they saw a car operating without its headlights. Police pulled the car over and discovered the driver matched a description given by the woman.

Grubbs was issued a traffic ticket and was arrested. Police then went to the Walnut Street residence and talked to the 26-year-old woman.

She told police she was awakened in her bedroom at about 5 a.m. by someone pulling the covers off her. She said she looked up and saw a man standing at the side of her bed. The man allegedly placed his hand over her mouth and put a knife to her throat.

The woman said the man threatened her. He removed her clothing and again threatened her, saying he would hurt her children and her neighbor if she made any noise.

The man allegedly got into bed with her and opened his clothing. He asked the woman to perform a sex act with him and she refused.

He then allegedly tried to force her into having sexual relations with him but was unsuccessful.

The man then told her to turn over because he was going to tie her up. The man started to get up and the woman kicked him in the chest, knocking him backward. She then pulled off a necklace he was wearing.

The woman said the man came at her again and she grabbed the knife and his hand, causing the blade to shut on his hand. The man then grabbed a pillow and placed it over her face.

The woman continued to struggle and the man suddenly removed the pillow from her face and told her he was leaving.

HOUSE ON IOWA DAMAGED

A house in the 2200 block of Iowa Street was damaged Oct. 22. Lloyd Basson, 24 Iris Ave., Pontoon Beach, owns the house at 2241 Iowa. When he went there, he found eight windows broken out and the frames removed. Licks on front and back doors also were taken.

Lottery sales continue to grow

Illinois State Lottery sales have increased 5 percent in the first quarter of fiscal year 1986 (July through September 1985) over sales in the same period last year.

Lottery Superintendent Rebecca Paul said sales reached $318.3 million, compared with $301.7 million in the same months last year. Sales of Lotto, the most popular game, hit $150 million, up 5 percent over the first quarter of fiscal 1985.

reached $132.9 million, a 1 percent rise over last year. Prizes to winners were up 9 percent, to $150.6 million.

Of the $132.9 million first quarter FY 86 profits, $91.8 million was allocated to the support of education statewide. On Aug. 28, a newly signed law committed all lottery profits to education.

Previously, lottery profits went to the General Revenue Fund, with about 37 percent going to education.

SINCE THE BILL was signed after almost two complete months of the first quarter had passed, portions of lottery profits earned in July and August were allocated to human service programs: $20 million went to health and social services, while $15.1 million helped support programs in such areas as public protection and justice, natural resources and recreation and transportation.

Paul noted that this year's 5 percent sales increase occurred without the benefit of the $40 million Lotto prize that was a highlight of the first quarter a year ago.

In this year's first quarter, the Lotto game had only two non-consecutive rollovers, and the largest prize offered to a single winner was $15 million.

PICK-4, which experienced a 43 percent sales increase, was the lottery's fastest growing game in the first quarter.

Paul attributed much of that increase, which brought Pick-4 sales up to $21 million, to more players taking advantage of the seven-day-a-week Pick-4 schedule introduced last year during the third quarter of FY 85.

Instant Game sales also continued to increase — up 9 percent to $61.3 million, compared to $56.5 for the same period last year.

THE DAILY GAME was the only lottery product which did not register an increase in the first quarter of the new fiscal year.

Paul said that while Daily Game sales declined 2 percent, it remained the lottery's second most popular game, surpassed only by Lotto, and accounted for first-quarter sales of $85.8 million.

As part of its ongoing effort to broaden the base of lottery players, the state has added 550 agents across Illinois since the first quarter last year.

AS OF SEPT. 30, there were 8,724 agents. Of those agents, 2,917 sell the full line of lottery games. The remainder sell only instant games.

Agent commissions increased 5 percent to $15.8 million.

Five seeking four seats in Venice

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

Five candidates are seeking four seats on the Venice Board of Education in the Nov. 5 election.

Four incumbent members and a newcomer are vying for the positions. All seats are for four-year terms.

Venice voters may cast ballots between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m. Polls will be located at: Precinct 1, Venice Park District Office, 321 Broadway; 2, St. Mark Church basement, Sixth Street and Lincoln Avenue; and 3, Eagle Park Improvement Association Center, 100 Hill St., Eagle Park. Biographies of the candidates follow:

George Wade Jr.

Incumbent George W. Wade Jr., 41, has been a member of the school board since 1977, when he was appointed to complete the unexpired term of Jacqueline Leatherman, who resigned.

He was first elected in 1978 and won a one-year term in 1980. He was re-elected to a four-year term in 1981 and has served as board secretary and treasurer.

Wade has resided in Venice for the past nine years and previously lived in Madison.

Employed in the Security Division at Granite City Steel for several years, he formerly worked at Nutrena Feeds Division of Cargill Inc. at the East St. Louis plant.

Wade and his wife, Margarette, are the parents of Wanda, 19, a student at Western Illinois University, Kenneth, 15, a Venice High School student, and George Wade III, 17 months old. The family lives at 431 Lincoln Ave.

A veteran of the Vietnam War, he served four years in the Navy. He is an active member of New Salem Baptist Church and a member of its Board of Deacons. He also is a member of New Hope Masonic Lodge 23.

Wade graduated from Lincoln High School in East St. Louis. He attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for two years.

His reasons for seeking re-election are "to continue helping to make available to our children the highest quality of education possible and to be a representative of the people, for the people of our district and community."

"I will constantly strive toward keeping the financial structure of our school district sound and intact."

Alvester Salmond

Alvester Salmond, 44, current secretary of the Venice School Board and a member since 1980, won a four-year term in 1981. Initially, she was appointed to the board to complete the unexpired term of James E. Turner, who resigned.

Due to a change in state election laws, she would not have been required to run until November 1983, but she decided to seek a four-year post in the 1981 election and was successful.

A lifetime resident of the Quad-City area, Mrs. Salmond attended Lincoln School in Venice from grades one through 10 and graduated from Madison High School in 1961.

She graduated in 1963 as a licensed practical nurse from F. W. Olin School of Practical Nursing in Alton and has since been employed in the nursing field at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Mrs. Salmond and her husband, Eddie, are the parents of two children, Eddie Lee, 19, a pre-medical student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and Towanda, 21, a sophomore in the SIUE School of Nursing who attended Greenville College for one year. Both are Venice High School graduates.

The Salmond family resides at 200 Roosevelt Drive, Eagle Park.

The candidate is an active volunteer worker in community programs and was a member of the Venice School District's Title IV Advisory Council.

Mrs. Salmond commented: "I have many reasons for seeking office as a Venice School Board member, but the main one is for quality education for all of the students. Another reason is to represent the voters as a spokesperson, and still another is to help make sure the school is operated in the best interest of the district.

George Wade Jr.

"I have been involved with Venice District 3 many years, first as a student, then as the parent of two students who have graduated, and now having served for several years as a board member."

"I have attended conventions and meetings and served on the building, personnel and negotiation committees. I was appointed treasurer for one year and have served as secretary of the board for about two years."

"I have been involved both externally and internally with the operations of the school and I have had to make decisions many times with my head and not my heart. In all of these situations, I have tried to represent the wishes of the people to the best of my ability by first making sure the issues were in the best interest of our students and district."

"If re-elected, I intend to continue to strive for the best quality education for all students. I also intend to adhere to present issues brought to my attention by the people who placed me in this position."

"I will constantly suggest that we have an assistant superintendent, and I will also stress that when we seek employees for open positions, professional or non-professional, that we advertise such jobs, giving the entire community an opportunity (to apply)."

"I will also continue to fight against the statewide reorganization of small schools. I do not agree with a merger. A small school or small classes are what the students need in order to be ready when they reach the college level. I will always strive to see that our students get the best that a school district can offer."

David Levy

Incumbent David Michael Levy, 32, was appointed to the Venice School Board March 28, 1985, to complete the unexpired term of Matthew Meehan, who resigned.

Born in Venice and a lifelong resident, Levy is a graduate of Venice High School. He also attended Belleville Area College and the University of Illinois.

He and his wife, the former Karen Kelly, are the parents of David II, 10, and Eric, 6. The family resides at 219 Hampton St. and attends St. Mark Catholic Church in Venice.

Levy is now co-owner of Venice Gas and Oil Co., where he was employed many years as an attendant.

Among his reasons for seeking election to the board, Levy cites "a genuine concern for community improvement and a strong belief in the value of education and the needs of the children."

"My educational concerns are to be knowledgeable and to be involved locally as well as statewide in the development of educational programs which meet the needs of every student in our district."

"I believe we should have respect for everyone's needs and feelings and maintain a sense of fairness in all our dealings."

Levy advocates that the board

"enact major policies only after all sides of an issue have been carefully studied."

Kirk Gardner Sr.

Kirk M. Gardner Sr. won a two-year term on the school board in November 1983. He was initially appointed to the board in February that year to fill the unexpired term of Raymond Mosby, who resigned.

A Venice High School graduate, Gardner, 29, graduated in June 1985 from Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College with an associate degree in science and construction management.

After completing a four-year apprenticeship program, he is employed as a construction carpenter and plevier through Carpenters Local 633 of Granite City. Gardner is a lifelong resident of the Venice area. He and his wife, the former Ruthie Cotton, are the parents of three sons, Kirk Jr., 9, a Venice student, Markus, 5, and Senator Kyle, 10½ months.

His reasons for seeking re-election include "to help share new ideas and thoughts, and to improve relationships between students and teachers."

"I try to improve my skills in all aspects and I believe in trying to help people who are trying to help themselves."

"The world now is more free than what it was years ago. If there is a goal you are trying to achieve, keep trying and trying until you succeed. Nothing worthwhile is given to you; you have to earn it," he believes.

Gardner and his family live at 210A Harrison Ave., Eagle Park.

Gregory Katana

Gregory W. Katana, 31, is seeking election to the school board for a first term. He is employed as a foreman by Meyer Horseshoe Co., St. Louis.

Katana has lived in Venice since 1975 and is married to the former Arlene Nash, a lifetime resident. They have two sons, Michael, 7, who attends Venice Grade School, and Gregory, 4. The family lives at 603 Fillmore Ave.

A graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville with a degree in government, including a minor in economics, Katana graduated from Edison High School in New Jersey.

Pack 1 and a vice president of the Venice Lions Club. He ran unsuccessfully for the board in 1980.

Outlining his reasons for seeking the office, Katana says, "The school district is faced with the problem of a rise in student enrollment, while the tax base continues to decrease."

"I would like to see smaller classes and to establish a policy of education to be the first priority for the district."

"The first issue is that of school district consolidation. I am glad Senate Bill 730 was passed. It will mandate that smaller school districts, such as Venice, merge into more economically efficient units."

"As a school board candidate in 1980, I was in favor of district consolidation in order to provide quality education. However, I felt that any plan to consolidate would lack political feasibility."

"Although the new law brings consolidation a step closer, any new plan must be approved by the voters of each district included in the plan. This leaves political feasibility as still somewhat of a problem."

"To alleviate this, the current board should seek guarantees from the county reorganization committee that the new board would have a certain number of seats reserved for Venice District 3 residents."

"Also, the board could promote the new plan to the voter by extending the benefits, such as more equal educational opportunity for all students countywide. This includes more sports programs as well as other extracurricular activities — debate club, choir, etc."

Katana advocates maintaining small class sizes to afford more individual attention to children, adding, "Because of the limitation of revenue sources, a policy should be adopted to guarantee that if any personnel cutbacks need to be made, teachers will be the last to go."

He favors adoption by the board of more employment-oriented programs. "This should include more emphasis on career counseling."

resume writing and interviewing skills. We also should establish some form of work-study program where students will have the option of leaving school early to attend a job.

"Because Venice is included in an Enterprise Zone with Madison and parts of Granite City, the school board should — in cooperation with the City Council — push more vigorously for new businesses to locate in Venice as opposed to Madison and Granite City."

"To be competitive, we need to have a quality school system which can supply new businesses with the needed labor force. Any new businesses locating in Venice should be 'jawboned' into taking Venice graduates as employees," Katana said.

Recommendations on 4 boards

There already is much talk of the 1986 elections, but an important 1985 election looms immediately ahead, on Tuesday, Nov. 5. Varied education issues will be decided as Quad-Citians and other Illinoisans go to the polls between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Citizen interest and participation are vital if school and college systems are to function effectively. Voters have the right, privilege and duty to decide on the competing board candidates and on proposed changes in the Belleville Area College District's tax rate limits.

Regarding board membership, the Press-Record recommends:

VENICE SCHOOL BOARD
(Four to be elected to 4-year terms)

George Wade Jr., incumbent.
Kirk Gardner Sr., incumbent.
Alvester Salmund, incumbent.
Gregory Katana.

MADISON SCHOOL BOARD
(One 2-year term)

Edmund Warchol, incumbent.
(Four to be elected to 4-year terms)

Billie Bosworth, incumbent.
James Newsome, incumbent.
Edward Debnal, incumbent.
John Hamm.

GRANITE CITY SCHOOL BOARD
(Four to be elected to 4-year terms)

Alan R. Crider, incumbent.
L. Monroe Worthen, incumbent.
Ruth D. Lahr, incumbent.
Donald J. Lane.

BELLEVILLE AREA COLLEGE BOARD
(One 2-year term)

James Vest, incumbent.
(Two to be elected to 6-year terms).

Avery Schermer, incumbent.
Curt Eckert, incumbent.

BAC can be big boost for area

Several issues or non-issues have become topics of public discussion as the Nov. 5 Belleville Area College District tax rate referendum approaches; they are outlined below. As we have said in earlier editorials, it is of great importance that "Yes" votes be cast for both the education fund and building fund rate limit proposals next Tuesday.

1. An assertion voiced this week is that Granite Citians are being asked to "pay twice" for the former North High School. This is not correct. School taxpayers paid for and built the school, which operated as a high school from 1973 to 1983. It then was leased to BAC and converted to college use for two years, after which it was sold this year to the college district.

Rather than paying for it again, local residents can take advantage of a big financial bonus. In addition to major physical improvements, most of them to be financed by the state, 33 percent of the new tax dollars from throughout the eight-county district are to be spent each year to operate North, now known as Granite City Campus. The curriculum and staff are to be expanded, making GCC a full-service two-year community college.

2. Court hearings have been held in St. Clair County on a college trustee's assertion that public money might be spent to help promote awareness of the tax vote.

There is no such plan, and it would be illegal, in any case; tax funds cannot be spent to influence an election outcome. We suspect that the court activity is a "smoke screen" intended to confuse people and divert their attention from the real issues; it will subside once the election has taken place.

The lawsuit seems to be part of an effort to discredit the college administrators who developed the tax proposal. We think they are honorable, highly-capable educators who should not be attacked in this way.

3. It is being suggested that the construction proposals involve peripheral or even frivolous programs and facilities, outside the educational mainstream.

In fact, there is much crowding, much need for additional classrooms. BAC has less than half the space per student as the average Illinois community college.

By adding a $10 million fine arts and civic center and a $10 million indoor physical fitness center — much of this space financed by state or private sources — BAC can free up existing buildings for a broad range of instruction.

4. Some are questioning whether construction trades workers would benefit. Actually, with $31 million in building projects and improvements scheduled, the expansion program can be a boon for Metro-East area jobs and economic impetus.

5. Questions are being raised about whether a college here can have much effect on the industrial climate and employment outlook. But the plan is being actively supported by such companies as Granite City Steel and A.O. Smith Corporation, which say GCC is essential for continued recovery from the early-1980s recession in this community and region.

Groups endorsing the tax proposal include the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, Leadership Council of Southwestern Illinois, Belleville Trades and Labor Assembly, St. Elizabeth Medical Center of Granite City, Belleville Economic Progress, Belleville Mayor Richard Brauer, Southwestern Illinois YMCA and Southwestern Illinois Building and Construction Trades Council.

Granite City Mayor Von Des Cruse this week cited a need for the "high-tech" programs being developed at GCC. He praised the already favorable impact of the local college, commenting:

"Over 4,000 have taken courses at the college since it was opened in 1983. Young people in our community can begin a college degree at an affordable cost and the college is convenient. Working people and unemployed people can refrain for new careers."

"We must give the industry here reasons to stay, and also create an environment in which new businesses will choose to locate in Granite City. If we have a full-service community college, we will increase the quality of life in our area. We will have an institution that can train our citizens, not only for jobs here but in St. Louis and along the new highway corridor that will be created by the completion of Interstate 255."

Mayor Cruse added, "Those of us who have judged the BAC tax plan on its merits — and realize its value to our city — support it completely. Where will our children acquire the skills they need for the future? That's a responsibility we carry. The vitality of the community is at stake."

Retired superintendent comments on schools

To the Editor:
As the immediate past superintendent of schools of Granite City, I take exception to the statement made by Kelly Hogan, president of the Granite City School Board, in his "Your Views" column Oct. 20.

One thing that I heartily agree upon is that we do have an outstanding school system. We have had that reputation for years.

Academically, Mr. Hogan implies that he and some new board members have brought a wealth of new programs into our school district. I would like to list a few of the programs that have been in effect for some time:

1. Our Independent Reading Program was started in the late 1960s.
2. Learning centers were started in 1971.
3. Special education started in the late 1960s.
4. Our gifted program started in 1968.
5. Our computer programs began in 1980.

All of the above programs started before any of the "new" members were seated on our School Board. Our students succeed because they work hard under the guidance of many excellent, dedicated teachers and administrators.

These teachers and administrators carry out the planned, board-approved programs that are available to each student for 13 years. This is not something that has happened in the last two years, but has been happening for many years.

Financially: Certain new board members are taking credit for the balanced budgets the past two years. This is not where credit is due.

In 1983-84, the balanced budget was adopted by "old" board members in September 1983. The newly-elected board members took office in November 1983.

The good people of Granite City passed a $6.6 million bond issue in 1984. In doing so, they helped us balance our budget.

In addition to this, the school district received unexpected funds from the State of Illinois because of the income tax amnesty and corporate tax money.

Prior to the time the $6.6 million bond issue was passed, a promise was made by Mr. Hogan to give 5 percent of the bond proceeds to the school district employees.

This would have cost $2.8 million, a figure that, in my opinion, would have ruined our school district.

Later, Mr. Hogan made a public apology, stating we did not have the funds to give this raise. This apology was printed in the Aug. 27, 1984, issue of the Press-Record.

This year, 1985-86, a claim is being made that we have over $1.3 million in excess revenues over expenses. The excess was made possible by our legislature when it changed the state aid formula.

During my last month as superintendent of schools, the state informed the district that we would receive $1 million more in state aid for 1985-86 than we received in 1984-85.

Recommendation: Because of these inaccurate claims — and his not giving credit where I feel credit is due — I, as a lifelong resident of Granite City and a former employee of School District 9, recommend that voters elect the following people to the Board of Education on Nov. 5, 1985: Alan Crider, L. Monroe Worthen, Joanne Terrell and Jerry McKechn.

Custodians lack contract

To the Editor:
I read an article in the Press-Record/Journal Oct. 27 stating Ruth Lahr's position regarding custodial and cafeteria staff positions.

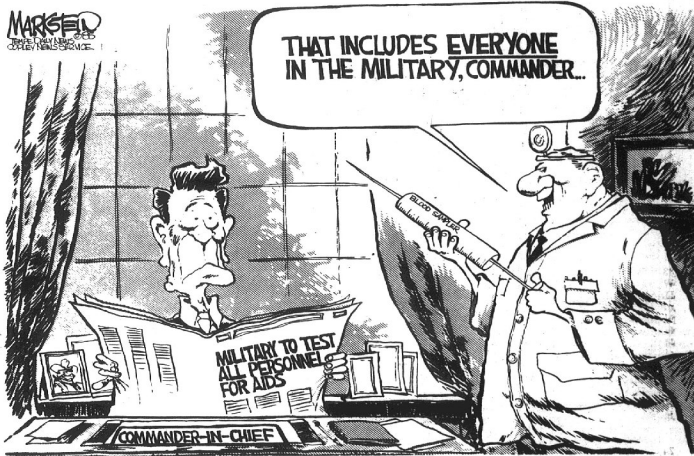

She said, "The custodians are at an acceptable level and operating efficiently. There is no reason to replace that staff with any outside concern."

It is my understanding that the custodians have been working without a contract presently. And how long has it been since they had a raise?

If Mrs. Lahr is so concerned about the morale of the employees, which she so states in her article, a boost in morale could come with a contract settlement — and a pay raise plus a concern for these objectives, other than at election time.

Halloween memories prompt suggestions

To the Editor:

October and Halloween were nearly gone as this was written and to those of us who knew and loved Matthew Chenevert, the sorrow and happy memories are here.

No one loved Halloween and the beginning of the holiday season like Matt did. He relished the thoughts of decorating our house and carrying on as outlandishly as the law would allow.

He loved "terrorizing" the little children and they always looked around in anticipation at what devilish thing he had dreamed up this time.

Those days are gone forever but the memories do linger on. I am writing this letter to remind parents to treasure those moments when they feel their teenagers are driving them crazy. Remember, these times will pass.

Just love them and let them know it, and they'll be all right. If any of you would like to do anything in his name this Halloween, please consider these suggestions.

Matthew's scholarship fund is still going strong at the 1st National Bank; contact Evelyn.

We also have an organization in town called Parents Plus, which supports teenagers in a very unique way.

They could use people's support, time, money, and love. There is always a fund at Cardinal Glennon Hospital for children in Matthew's name, and many loving and charitable organizations in our town which always need our support.

Please, kids, be safe and happy this Halloween. Know that Matthew is looking down on you and thinking of something devilish to do with love in his heart.

Thinks college tax proposal is misleading

To the Editor:

Generally it is an accepted fact with a large portion of the taxpayers that a unit of government is in dire need of additional tax dollars before they are asked to go to the polls to vote.

The bigwigs at Belleville Area College think just the opposite. They dream up ways to spend taxpayers' money and then tell them to go vote "yes."

1. as one taxpayer, will not be foolery their hogwash.

Item 1. The BAC junior college helps industries and workers.

Where was BAC when A.O. Smith, General Steel, American Steel and the Army Depot all closed down? We were paying taxes, and yet they failed to keep any of those places of employment in the area. Why?

Item 2. BAC will draw industries into the area.

I have not seen one picture in the paper where the bigwigs were invited to a plant opening or a ribbon-cutting ceremony at any of the plants, such as Precoat or Heidtman, that opened up in the last few years. Why?

Item 3. BAC has kept the same tax rate for 17 years (but does not mention the tax base).

About that same period, it was decreed that all taxpayers would have to be in a junior college district. Residents of Granite City chose BAC over Lewis and Clark due to the fact that it had a lower tax rate.

Question for Dr. Wissmore: How much did your tax base increase when Granite City chose to go with the BAC district? Something like $150,000,000 in added assessed valuation, wasn't it? Why not tell taxpayers why you didn't need a tax rate increase then?

Item 4. About 53 percent of the tax will be spent in the Granite City Campus.

When the bigwigs were using all avenues to acquire Granite City High School North, they later the law down: Sell us the building at a cheap price or we'll move out of the area. Also, for BAC to get up to $6.5 million of state monies, they said, we must have title.

They were going to fix the roof, add new classrooms, and build an auto mechanic building second to none with this state money. Dr.

Wissmore, why haven't you gotten started using the state money that you said was there? It wasn't there like you said, was it?

It could be true BAC might qualify for state money. If BAC would put up a certain amount, then the state might match dollar for dollar. This you failed to inform the taxpayers of in your eager quest for that building.

You've got it now, and we taxpayers want you to keep it up, just like you advertised.

Item 5. We need more classrooms and laboratories.

Some schools may still be for sale. And I believe American Steel right before it shut down was in the process of building a $10 million laboratory and building.

I could go on and on, on how I feel BAC is trying to mislead taxpayers. I strongly urge all taxpayers to vote "no" Nov. 5 on all BAC tax proposals. Let the bigwigs tighten their belts like the rest of the working class has to.

City's attitude threatens bargaining rights of laborers

To the Editor:

The Tri-City Trades and Labor Council would like to take this opportunity to answer some of the charges made in the front-page article by Mayor Von Dee Cruse in the Sunday Press-Record/Journal Oct. 20.

We think it's only fair to outline the chain of events as they happened. At the Sept. 4 meeting of the Labor Council, a copy of a resolution was introduced by a city employee. We are sure that the union population of our city will see the grave threat to collective bargaining when they are permitted to read the complete resolution.

Council members were very troubled by this and it was decided to invite Mayor Cruse to talk to members of the council and city employees. A letter was sent and went unanswered.

At the Sept. 18 meeting of the Labor Council, it was decided that Council President Ed Reiske would personally visit the mayor. Upon the occasion of this visit, the mayor agreed to attend the Oct. 2 meeting of the Labor Council, but at the last minute decided not to attend.

At the Oct. 2 meeting of the Labor Council, it was decided to extend our invitation to the Oct. 16 meeting, to which the mayor finally agreed to come.

On Oct. 15, a Granite City police officer hand-delivered a letter from Mayor Cruse to Council Secretary Albert Supp's residence, stating that he would prefer to meet sometime at City Hall.

If the mayor is not anti-labor, one might question his hesitance at speaking to the Labor Council. But as the mayor feels a responsibility towards his constituents, who by the way are largely union members, surely it can be understood that the Labor Council feels a responsibility towards the union members that it represents, city employees included. Policemen and firemen — these folks put their lives on the line constantly to protect those of us who live in Granite City.

To prohibit any union collective bargaining rights is deplorable and denies the long and hard-won gains by the labor movement.

All the Labor Council has asked for is a fair shake for the city employees and a chance to air out objections to the mayor. This hardly matches the picture that was painted by the mayor in the article. We felt an obligation to set the record straight.

Parent lacks confidence in Madison schools

To the Editor:

After reading the Oct. 24 letter, "Past city officers seeking posts on board," I feel impelled to write. I have spent all but one year of my adult life in Madison, have three children, ages 8-16, and am concerned about the upcoming school board election.

I'm not Catholic but my two young sons attend St. Mary-St. Mark School. I have no confidence in our school system.

Why do we taxpayers and property owners have to pay tuition to feel that our children are receiving the education they deserve? I don't trust the present public school system to educate my children.

A relative once asked me why I sent my kids to the Madison schools. I was insulted by him thinking I didn't care enough about my children. After soul-searching, and because he knows about politics in this community, I agreed with him and enrolled my sons in the Catholic school. They are important and the school system is not giving them what our tax dollars are paying for.

My daughter is still attending Madison schools. I graduated from Madison High School and feel I attained a good education, but I am ashamed to think that she will soon possess a diploma from MHS. She is not receiving the education we pay for. Why? It is not the teachers' fault; they only work with what the board allows them to have.

We must have people in control of our schools who care, who love this city, not people in it for recognition or free trips to California supposedly to better our schools. We need people experienced in obtaining grants, to bring the level of education up instead of down.

There are fine men, like Don Bridick and Mike Macek, running who have demonstrated their leadership and knowledge to this community in the past and are willing to continue to do so, even though they do not have children of their own. They are interested in the upcoming citizens of Madison, our children.

We could move and live in a community that offers a better level of education for our children. But why, when we can do something about our present school system?

This could be the most important vote we may ever cast for our children. I am sure if the children could vote, they would ask for a change.

Grief support group meeting here each week

Hospice of Madison County is sponsoring a grief support group entitled "Creative Living After a Loss." The group meets Wednesdays from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Wiesman Room of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City.

The series continues through Dec. 4, with no session scheduled on Nov. 27. Nina Millett, RN, MSW, the program director, and Mary Peach MSW, hospice social worker, are conducting the sessions.

Anyone who has experienced a loss through divorce or separation, death of a loved one, unemployment or other loss is being urged to attend the group sessions.

Members of the group will explore the normal time to griefing is about the process of normal and abnormal grief. Personal experiences will be shared.

"The need to talk about a loss is a normal and natural fact of the grief process," Millett said, "but society's attitude is to avoid talking about death of loss."

"A noted doctor refers to America as the only country in the world with no visible signs of mourning. For example, Israel has the wailing wall, and other countries honor bereavement in various ways."

"The average American feels the normal time to griefing is about two weeks, although the normal grief process could take up to two years or more."

The grief support group is a regular program of Hospice of Madison County, which is an affiliate of SEMC. Hospice presents the grief support series twice a year, and attendance is not limited to Hospice family members. Area residents are being encouraged to attend.

Edward J. O'Connor has been elected vice president of human resources at A.O. Smith Corporation effective Jan. 1, 1986. O'Connor, 45, has been head of personnel and industrial relations at the company's largest operating unit since 1981. He is a past official of the Smith plant in Granite City.

Thomas L. Dolan, chairman and chief executive officer, said O'Connor will take the post being vacated by Charles A. Baumann, 62, who will retire at the end of 1985. Baumann has been the chief personnel officer at A.O. Smith since April 1, 1981.

O'Connor will be responsible for development of policy and coordination of the human resources and industrial relations function throughout the corporation. He will also be a member of the company's operating committee.

O'Connor is vice president of industrial relations at the A.O. Smith Automotive Products Company. This operating division last year reported sales of $567 million and has 6,000 employees in three manufacturing plants.

He was named labor relations supervisor there in 1971 and became the personnel manager in Granite City in 1973. He moved to the Milwaukee plant in 1977.

Medical leader to discuss health care fund systems

Continuing work on medical malpractice reforms in Illinois and safeguarding patients' rights in an era of rapidly changing health care finance systems are two key public policy issues, to be addressed Tuesday, Nov. 5, by the state's top medical spokesman.

Morgan M. Meyer, M.D., president of the 16,000-member Illinois State Medical Society (ISMS), will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the Madison County Medical Society at 8 p.m. at Sunset Hills Country Club.

"ILLINOIS HAS a newly-enacted medical malpractice law which is a clear victory for patients. It should begin to assist in controlling health care costs by weeding out non-meritorious suits before the time and expense of a courtroom trial.

This will allow the courts to deal with valid suits quickly," Dr. Meyer says.

"But there is still a need to cap multi-million-dollar pain and suffering awards and enact other medical liability reform measures.

"Illinois, along with several states, is still facing constrictions in the medical liability market which result from large, unpredictable court awards. Additional reforms are crucial to containing future health care costs.

"WE NEED TO PROTECT patient freedom in choosing alternate health care systems which provide quality care. Currently, preferred provider organization (PPO) legislation approved by the 1985 General Assembly dictates from which physician a patient can receive medical treatment in order to receive full insurance reimbursement.

"Those selecting a personal physician who is not a 'preferred provider' are not guaranteed even a minimum insurance benefit.

"I urge physicians to support only those cost-cutting efforts which protect a patient's quality of care and free choice in a competitive marketplace.

"COST CUTTERS abound, and patients need physicians to work as their advocates to assure that quality doesn't suffer as a result."

A specialist in internal medicine from Lombard, he has served as president of the DuPage County Medical Society and has been president of the medical staffs of Good Samaritan and Eimhurst Memorial hospitals.

Labor group opposes tax plan, endorses school board candidates

GRANITE CITY — A proposed 14-cent hike in the tax rate limit for the Belleville Area College District has failed to get the endorsement of the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council. The screening committee of the council did endorse four Granite City School Board candidates, however.

Edwin Reiske, president of the labor council, said the tax proposal was turned down by the delegates because some feel it would amount to "double taxation," since taxpayers of the school district "already paid for the building (North High) once."

He said the four candidates chosen by the council for endorsement are Monroe Worthen, Mark Maynard, John Travis-Terrell and Gerald McKeehan.

Only eight of the 10 Granite City School Board candidates appeared for the screening, Reiske said. No candidates appeared from the Madison, Venice or BAC districts.

The decision on the Granite City candidates was discussed with five members of Federation of Teachers Local 743 before it was announced, Reiske said.

Board negative on industrial park plan

By RACHEL NEWSOME

CHOUTEAU — A proposed industrial park that might be constructed at Highway 111 and Interstate 270 was discussed at a Chouteau Township Board meeting Monday night, with officials reacting negatively.

Gene Patch, sewer superintendent of Madison County Special Service Area 1, said that if the industrial park is developed, sewer and drainage problems in the area could double.

FUTCH REQUESTED help from the township in handling such problems.

Walter "Shang" Greathouse, executive director of the Metro East Sanitary District, is aware of the proposal but has not responded to it so far, said Futch.

Joe Stefanoff, Chouteau highway commissioner, suggested the town board send a letter to Greathouse and to the Madison County government expressing concern and requesting assistance in solving any problems that develop.

"I WILL WRITE to both and explain our situation. There always has been a problem out there, and we don't need any additional problems," said Morris Miles, township supervisor.

In other business, Marion Sparks, assessor, expressed his disapproval of an action by the board at a previous meeting.

He said the action was approved by all the affected taxing bodies and involved the lowering of a business's real estate assessment by $104,000.

SPARKS SAID this was "not only bad business, but unfair to the residents as well as the taxing districts."

"You're way off on your assessments, Mr. Sparks. You're way over the real estate appraisers who make a living at this," said the owner of a business, adding that his firm was similar to the one reassessed.

Two letters to the board from Michael Johnson, Chouteau tax collector, verified eight checks had been sent to the township for $36,516 and eight checks were disbursed to the Chouteau road and bridge fund for $70,153.

Approvals by the board were voted on paying $604 for mosquito abatement expenses and changing the Nov. 11 meeting date to Thursday, Nov. 7.

Number of bus riders growing

The Bi-State Transit Division of the Bi-State Development Agency says the first three months of fiscal year 1986 show continued growth over the same period in fiscal 1985.

Bus ridership for September 1985 increased 3.3 percent over September 1984, from 3,901,700 to 4,078,600 passengers. Average weekday ridership for September was up 11 percent from August 1985, to 175,370 passengers.

"Our new year has started on such a positive note due to efforts to put bus service where most people want it and can use it," said Michael H. Selzer, general manager of transit. "Through our Transit Action Plan, restructuring routes to provide convenient, efficient service to major activity and employment centers, commuting by bus is becoming more attractive to prospective passengers."

"There also is continued emphasis on improved bus maintenance and cleaning, an aggressive new bus painting program, new signage and expanded marketing and promotional activities."

BILL WILLETT, a Midwest woodcarver, will have four display booths at the Midwest Woodcarvers Show in Belleville Nov. 2 and 3. The show is in the Belle-Claire Exhibition Hall at the intersection of Routes 13 and 159.

Woodcarvers show slated this weekend in Belleville

BELLEVILLE — The 15th annual Midwest Woodcarvers Show will be held at the Belle-Claire Exhibition Hall at Routes 13 and 159 in south Belleville Saturday, Nov. 2, and Sunday, Nov. 3.

Don Lougeay, one of the founders of the show and a woodcarver himself, said all 200 display booths have been sold. Woodcarvings of many types, from delicate necklaces to duck and goose decoys and even larger birds and animals, will be on display.

"If you're interested in learning to carve yourself, there will be plenty to see and plenty of people who will be glad to talk to you about carving," Lougeay said.

While most of the exhibitors are carvers, there also will be some suppliers of wood, tools and instructions on carving.

The Holzschneider's Club (Holzschnitzer is the German word for carver), which founded the show, will have an information booth open during the show hours, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Admission is $1 per person. Exhibitors will come from eight Midwestern states — Minnesota, Iowa, Oklahoma, Indiana, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and, of course, Illinois," said Lougeay.

But if last year was any indication, we will have visitors from all over the U.S. Since this event started as a small show in 1970, it has grown steadily each year, and we expect a record crowd this year," Lougeay said.

"Many people who came on Saturday last year came back again on Sunday because they said there was so much to see they couldn't see it all in one day."

Madison woman to be on court supervision

Sandra L. Edwards, 21, of 36 Garesche Homes, Madison, will be under court supervision for one year and must perform 200 hours of public service work following her guilty plea Oct. 7 to battery. Madison County Circuit Judge Charles Chapman also ordered her to pay $55 court costs.

Edwards was originally charged with aggravated battery Aug. 16.

Gasification here seen as an energy solution

The State of Illinois and Allis-Chalmers Corp. have just announced signing of a contract which will provide an additional $4.67 million of state funds to the KILnGAS gasification project at East Alton.

These funds, plus $2.68 million which the Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources committed earlier this year, will be matched by contributions from the U.S. Department of Energy and will be used to continue performance testing and information gathering activities here.

Eight investor-owned utilities — including Illinois Power Co. — and Allis-Chalmers are also contributing funds to the current $20 million program.

OVER $200 MILLION will have been invested in the KILnGAS pilot plant at East Alton, by all program participants, upon completion of the current testing program in the spring of 1986.

Of the three commercial-scale coal gasification demonstration facilities in the U.S., the Allis-Chalmers plant is the only one specifically devoted to gasification of high-sulfur coal, which is among Illinois' most abundant and potentially valuable resources.

Allis-Chalmers says the work being done at Illinois Power's Wood River Generating Station in East Alton is a key element in bringing the gasification technology to commercial reality later in this decade.

THE KILnGAS PROCESS will offer America's electric utility companies and other users of large amounts of energy an important coal-based alternative to oil and natural gas, both in limited supply, backers say.

Testing of the process at East Alton began in mid-1983. To date, Allis-Chalmers believes, the process has been shown to be technically feasible.

Further testing is required to demonstrate the economics of the process — and to develop data necessary to design, fabricate and construct larger commercial gasification plants.

PREDICTIONS ARE that the project ultimately can have a dramatic effect on the Illinois coal industry. Demand for the product has been stagnant, basically because of its high-sulfur content, which discourages use of the coal under current clean-air regulations.

KILnGAS, officials hope, offers an opportunity to protect and expand markets for Illinois coal.

For example, even a single 160- to 175-megawatt combustion turbine-based generating plant, small by industry standards, would consume 400,000 tons of coal in a year with the plant operating less than two-thirds of the time.

PROPOSERS SAY the KILnGAS program is significant in that the state government in cooperation with private industry is producing a new technology — a technology intended to benefit Illinois workers, industries and the electricity-consuming general public.

Dorina Knight state finalist as top teacher

The Illinois State Board of Education will honor 106 individuals who have made outstanding contributions to Illinois' public and non-public K-12 education system at the board's "Those Who Excel" awards banquet Friday night, Nov. 1, in Chicago.

The awards dinner will be held in the Americana Congress Hotel. Honorees include a Mitchell School teacher, Dorina Knight, who will receive a plaque and has become one of eight finalists for the top teaching award.

Individuals will receive recognition in one of five categories: classroom teacher, school administrator, school board member, student (grades 7-12), and parent of other community member.

Plaques for outstanding achievement, certificates of excellence, and letters of honorary mention will be presented at the banquet by State Superintendent of Education Ted Sanders.

"Sustaining and providing educational excellence in our schools is not an easy task. Persons honored in this awards program have demonstrated that cooperative relationships between schools and communities can assure excellence in educational programs and services," Sanders said.

"The Those Who Excel awards program is an opportunity for the State Board of Education to honor the many who provide excellence in education for our students," Sanders added.

Nominees were judged under the following criteria:

— Could the nominee be considered a positive change agent in the school and/or community?

— Has the nominee beneficially affected any one or more of the following: curriculum, staff morale, community support, student interest, or the learning environment?

— Has the nominee provided creative leadership in inspiring or motivating others to achieve or contribute to the school environment?

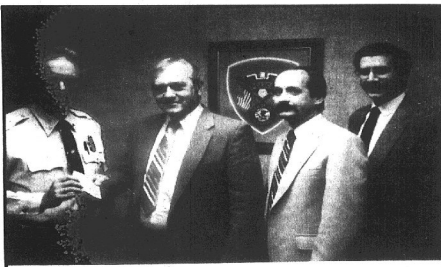

— Has the nominee personally provided a special service or achieved above and beyond what is expected in the usual school program?

— Have others recognized the nominee as a force for constructive change, e.g., a model for achieving educational excellence in Illinois?

Of the 106 nominees, 32 finalists will receive plaques, 59 semifinalists will receive certificates of excellence, and 24 nominees will receive letters of honorary mention.

The 1985-86 Illinois Teacher of the Year, selected from the eight plaque winners in the teacher category, will be announced and honored at the banquet. This person will be entered in the National Teacher of the Year program in the spring.

Robert Maguire of Millstadt, a high school teacher in Cabokia, is the current Illinois Teacher of the Year.

Georgetown plat enters round four

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — A resubdivided plat of Georgetown Drive has been submitted to the Village Board of Trustees for the fourth time and is on "hold" pending a written legal opinion from the village attorney.

Lawman also changed the plat, dividing it into four lots instead of the five shown on plats submitted earlier.

The question put to village attorney Keith Jensen Tuesday involved the frontage requirement on the lots. The village code requires the frontage width to be 30 feet. The lots meet that requirement if measured from the street right-of-way.

But village officials said the frontage requirement may pertain to the lot width at the street instead of the right-of-way. If the lots are measured at the street, they will be short of the frontage requirement, officials said.

Lawman requested a variance Oct. 8 to build five homes around a cul-de-sac at the end of Georgetown Drive in Lakeview Estates. At that time, the trustees indicated they would not grant the variance.

The Village Board rejected a resubdivided plat Sept. 24 because the frontage width on the lots was 27 feet, three feet short of the required 30 feet. It was the third time the board had rejected the resubdivided plat.

they were released about five minutes early.

About 800 balloons were released in the ceremony, Freese said. The call from Gergen was the first the school had received from someone finding a balloon.

Freese said he was not surprised that the balloons had become tangled, because the wind was pushing the balloons together as they went into the air.

ALL STUDENTS WHO have their cards returned will receive a t-shirt with a picture of the Statue of Liberty on it. He said the cards will be placed in a bin and one will be pulled out. The winner will receive a color television.

About 30 schools in Evansville participated in the fund-raiser, Freese said.

The red and blue balloons Gergen received contained the names of students from the 9th through 12th grades.

NO TELLING HOW far the balloons would have gone if it hadn't rained all day Tuesday.

FELLOW GRANITE CITYANS:

Many of us have strived through our lives to build a strong community that would benefit everyone. We have worked hard for what we have today, and we show the fruits of our labor.

Our school system is one of the best in the country. The entire community benefits from this.

Twenty-five years ago our family, along with many others worked toward the election of a board member to help build a good school system. We did our Job. He did his.

Strength lies in ourselves because we have been around for a long time. We should keep the strength in our school system because someone else has been around for a long time. His wisdom and judgment have proven beneficial to all of us, especially our children.

So, please vote for Monroe Worthen. He has consistently proven himself as a friend of ours, an able considerate person, and a sound decision maker for Granite City.

In addition to Monroe Worthen, I would like to recommend that you vote for three other independent candidates on November 5, 1985.

GCHS gridgers leave behind hope

By GARY KING
Staff writer

Dave Whaley

'Dream come true' for new reporter

Seasons come and seasons go, and so do sportswriters, though hopefully not as often as you might think. I never knew Alan Gerstenecker, the executive sports editor of the Granite City Press-Record / Journal for the past seven months, and the sports editor of the Press-Record since 1982, has left to become the assistant sports editor of the Belleville News-Democrat.

I humbly introduce myself as his replacement. Actually, Gregg Ochao is Alan's replacement as executive sports editor and I am taking Gregg's spot on the staff.

This has been a long time coming for me. Growing up, I never gave the journalism profession too much of a thought. When I finally entered into journalism school in my junior year at the University of Illinois, the only reason I did it was so I would end up in a sports department somewhere.

Anyhow, almost five years later, it has finally happened. I graduated from Illinois in 1980 and went to work as a sports stringer in my hometown for the Alton Citizen, one of the Suburban Newspapers of Greater St. Louis.

The highlight of my year there was a feature I did on Alton native Bill Lyons shortly after he was called up from the minor leagues to join the then-defending World Champion St. Louis Baseball Cardinals in July 1985.

(Lyons, by the way, was called up due to an injury to then-Cardinal outfielder Dave Jorg, a name that now will live in Cardinal infamy.)

I got my first full-time job with the Granite City Journal in February 1984 as a copy editor and moved up to a reporter's spot in May of that year. I stayed in that spot until this week.

But I felt all of that time in the news department was just an unnecessary delay. It takes a special kind of person to know just how much I love sports.

Football was my first love, and if you put a gun to my head now and made me pick my favorite sport, football would be it. I got my first pigskin as a birthday present at the age of 3.

Hockey came next when the Blues came to St. Louis in 1967. The Blues beat the Chicago Black Hawks, 1-0, on a goal by Bill McCrory. Jacques Plante, the legendary Montreal Canadiens' goaltender who finished his career with two great years in St. Louis, got the shutout by stopping 44 Chicago shots.

I swear to you, I remember all of that.

Since then I have probably been to close to 200 Blues games, probably more losses than winners, but it's always been fun.

Add to that countless more football and baseball games at Busch Stadium and I've probably spent half of my life handing tickets to ushers at the turnstiles.

There have been a lot more unhappy moments in area sports than happy ones in my lifetime. But they only served to make the good times that much better. I have only cried once since I was a child and that was on Oct. 20, 1982, when Bruce Sutter struck out Gorman Thomas to give the Cardinals the World Championship. Sunday's game in Kansas City was rough, but tears of anguish did not come, fortunately, as the tears of joy had three years before.

That brings me to the present. I am coming into a fine sports situation with a long tradition. Granite City has been synonymous with winning soccer and wrestling over the years, and the football, baseball and basketball teams have had their moments as well.

And Madison's Trojans and Venice's Red Devils are no strangers to state basketball championships.

I can't wait to get going. To Ron Yates, Don Deterding, Walt Whitaker, Rodney Watson and all the rest of the fine coaches in the area, I'll be meeting you soon.

I don't know everybody yet, but with Gregg, Gary King, Jim Blasingame, Kenny Perkins and the rest, I have a good group to work with.

No, they didn't win the state tournament. Nor did they finish first in the Southwestern Conference. In fact, they didn't even make it to the play-offs.

But as quickly as you can say three big wins in a row, the '85 Warrior gridgers laid a winning foundation that should aid future Granite City football teams for years to come.

Someone (maybe it was Jim Hanifan) once said, "It's not how you start that matters, it's how you finish." Indeed, the Warrior's season started on somewhat of a dreadful note. However, their finish was one that would make even the most critical of fans stand to their feet and applaud.

The Warriors opened the year with a trip to Danville (which lost only once during the season and will face East St. Louis in the first round of the playoffs). Although they had several opportunities to win the game, they couldn't get the 'big break' as they lost to the Vikings, 26-12.

Next came a heartbreaker of a loss to playoff-bound Belleville. Trailing 13-12 at the start of the fourth quarter, the then-questionable Warrior defense watched its lead change to a 24-13 loss at the hands of the Matrons.

Already carrying an 0-2 mark, Granite City was given the unenviable task of traveling to Parsons Field for a showdown with the East St. Louis Flyers, the number one high school football team in the nation. The Flyers simply used their we're-better-than-everybody-else, as they handed Granite their worst defeat of the season, 60-0.

The first taste of victory for the Warriors came in their fourth game of the campaign against the woeful Collinsville Kahoks. The local squad had little trouble with the Kahoks, routing them by a score of 41-7. Nothing but hold a parade over, but at least it was a start.

Although the Granite City defense had looked tough against Alton, it looked awesome against the any easier. Granite City would end the season by facing Belleville Althoff, Cahokia, Alton and Belleville East.

Facing an always tough Belleville Althoff squad, the Warriors managed to battle the Crusaders to a 21-21 standstill through three quarters. Unfortunately, the Granite City defense once again failed to maintain the lead, as Althoff scored a late touchdown to win the contest of years to come.

As the Warriors traveled to Cahokia the following week, it appeared their dark skies were on the verge of becoming a hurricane. Trailing 12-0 at the half, things looked, to say the least, very bleak.

The Incredible Hulk-like metamorphosis which took place during the 15-minute intermission proved to be the turning point of the season.

Granite City took its first drive of the second half and marched the length of the field for a score. The once-dormant defense began to show signs of life, shutting down the Cahokia offense for the remainder of the game. Before Cahokia knew what hit them, the Warriors had posted a 30-12 come-from-behind victory.

Granite City coach Ron Yates thought the second half performance of his Warriors was the turning point in the season. "No doubt about it, the way we played in the second half of the Cahokia game was what turned the tide for us," he said. "It created the momentum which helped us in our last two ballgames."

Alton was the next victim of the revived Warrior squad. Entering the game as heavy underdogs, the Granite City boys raised several eyebrows with a 17-12 upset of the highly-touted Redskins.

"The Alton win was one of the biggest in years for a Granite City team," Yates said. "I know it was the biggest since I've been coaching here."

The Warriors, playing in their last game of the season, set out to show their victory the previous week was no accident.

Belleville East Lancers. Final result: Warriors 7, Lancers 0.

The Warriors ended the season with a 4-4 mark, one of the best in years. They also managed to tie Belleville West for second place in the SWC. It was, to say the least, a very successful year for a team that, early on, appeared to be headed for trouble.

Yates praised both the offense and the defense for the Warriors' accomplishments.

"Our offense was very steady all year," he said. "They scored on everyone except East St. Louis," he said. "They kept us in several ballgames when the defense wasn't playing well with good ball control."

"The defense started out slow, but then they started listening to our coaching and stopped playing the way they wanted to. I was really proud of the boys on defense in the second half of the year. They never gave up."

Yates also noted that the superb kicking of senior Ryan Weeks made a difference in the outcome of several tight games.

"Ryan had a big impact on this ball team," the coach said. "He was 16 out of 17 on extra-point attempts, and he hit a 46- and a 47-yard field goal for us. It's unusual to have a kicker that good in high school."

When asked to single out the players who had the biggest effect on the squad this season, Yates was quick to note that it was a "full team" effort.

"We didn't have any superstars, we played as a team," a proud Yates said. "Every kid on this squad made a contribution to our success. They all played with a lot of heart."

Yates foresees even brighter days ahead in the Warrior camp. He thinks the momentum gained this year, coupled with the off-season weight program he's installed, will have a positive effect in the years to come.

"I think if the boys keep working hard, they'll continue the success," he said. "We don't want to go backwards. We want to keep winning. I look for us to have a good ballclub next season."

Meanwhile, we will spend the winter remembering the Warriors' strong finish and applauding the '85 squad for laying a winning foundation.

Trojanettes stopped by Assumption in regionals

By GARY KING
Staff writer

EAST ST. LOUIS + The tears in the eyes of the Madison seniors told the whole story. All the hard work, all the nights of practice after school, and all the good times were soon to become memories.

As Assumption's Petri Marion served a shot which fell at the feet of the Trojan spikers, the benediction was pronounced on the '85 Madison volleyball campaign.

The Pioneers of Assumption advanced to the semifinals of their own regional by defeating the Trojanettes by scores of 15-11 and 15-11 Tuesday night. However, the Trojans put forth a much better effort than either of the scores would seem to indicate.

In the first game of the match, it was obvious that both squads had little desire to turn in their equipment and call it a season. Madison's Tina Claggett began the contest by making good on her first four serves, thus giving the Trojans an early 4-0 lead.

Assumption's Yvonne Jones, who proved to be a thorn in Madison's aspirations throughout the contest, countered with five straight points which gave the Pioneers a 5-4 lead.

After falling behind 8-7, Jones once again rallied her squad. This time, she chalked up four more points with her smoldering serves, giving Assumption an 11-8 advantage.

After falling behind 14-9, the Trojanettes attempted a late-minute comeback. With sophomore Sharon Broyles serving, Madison had turned the tide of momentum back to their end of the court, as the Pioneers lead had been cut to 14-11. However, Assumption capitalized on a Trojan error, and won the game on the next serve.

Any inclination Madison might have had of winning the second game was quickly suppressed by the Pioneers' Patrick Ewing-like setter, Tammy Tighe.

Tighe, who stands six-foot, one-inch, started off the game with two "in your face" spikes. After helping her team jump out to a 6-1 lead, Tighe finished off the Madison spikers with nine unanswered points, giving Assumption their final margin of victory.

Although disheartened that her squad's season was brought to such a cruel ending, Madison coach Carol Cole was pleased with the effort and improvement of her team during the season.

"I feel real good about this season, I think the girls learned a whole lot this year," said Cole.

"At the start of the season I had young, inexperienced players who hadn't played much volleyball. But I've watched each of these girls make a big improvement, hopefully they'll carry the experience they've gained into next year."

Cole was not the only one who noticed the improvement the Trojanettes made during the season. Assumption coach Mike Kelleher also noted the vast progress Madison had made.

"That was a much improved Madison team that we played tonight. They've gotten much better since our first game with them earlier this year. They played really well tonight, but we're playing the best volleyball of our season right now."

Cole, who measures success by experience gained rather than titles in the win column, is forecasting brighter days ahead for her squad. She thinks that with a year of leaping already under their belt, next year's Trojanettes will be even better.

"These girls will be much better volleyball players next year, I would have to say we'll have a pretty decent team," said Cole.

Maybe next year the Trojanettes will be able to watch the tears fall from the eyes of their opposition. It would only be appropriate.

Kahoks win crown

The streak has stopped at 21. The usually stingy defense of the Alton Marquette soccer team caved in like the dynamite in which the game was played.

Marquette, unbeaten on the year, gave up two second quarter goals to Jason Smith within 30 seconds as Collinsville routed the Explorers 6-3 in the sectional final Tuesday night at SIU-Edwardsville.

The victory gives Collinsville a berth in the quarterfinals of the Illinois High School Association (IHSA) state soccer finals. The tournament will be held at Hinsdale South High School in Darien, Ill. Nov. 1-2.

Collinsville will be making its second appearance in the state tournament and its first since 1981, the year the Kahoks won the state championship.

The Kahoks will meet Westchester St. Joseph (19-2-1) at noon Friday, Nov. 1 in a quarterfinal match.

Marquette, which defeated

Granite City 1-0 in the regional finals, took a 1-0 lead on the goal by Chris Kane.

However, Smith scored the first of his two goals at the 37:00 minute mark. In all the Kahoks scored six unanswered goals. Rob Range, Scott Heinlein and Jim O'Donnell also scored of the Kahoks.

Marquette managed two unassisted goals late in the game by Tom Smith and Steve Jones. Collinsville outshot Marquette 17-8 and held a 3-2 advantage in corner kicks.

The Kahoks after a slow in which they lost five of their first seven games, have now won 12 of their last 15 games. Collinsville will take a 14-7 record into the state tournament. Marquette ends the season at 19-1-2.

Marquette advanced to Tuesday's final of the Springfield Sectional. The Kahoks blanked Glenwood Chatham 4-0 in the other semifinal game last Saturday.

Landrum at auction

Tit Landrum, who starred for the Baseball Cardinals in the World Series, is among the celebrities scheduled to appear at an auction sponsored by Parents Plus in Granite City.

The auction is Nov. 15 at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 4225 Old Alton Road.

In addition to Landrum, Cardinal General Manager Dal Maxvill, a native of Granite City, and Bob Broeg, contributing sports editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, are also scheduled to appear.

Landrum was one of the few bright spots in the Cardinal lineup in the World Series. He hit safely in all seven games, although the Cardinal batting average was a World Series record low .185.

For ticket information for the auction, contact Keith Neuber or Rhonda Dooley at 877-4420. The auction will begin at 7:30 p.m. after an item-showing at 6 p.m.

'Confident' GCHS harriers prepare IHSA sectional run

By GREGG OCHOA
Executive Sports Editor

There's a feeling of confidence in Dave McClain's voice when he talks about his girls cross country team.

McClain has good reason to feel the way he does. His Warriors appear to be peaking at just the right time of the season — post-season, that is.

Granite City will be seeking its third consecutive trip to the Illinois High School Association state cross country finals. In the lone obstacle standing in the way is the Springfield Sectional.

Saturday's sectional begins at 11 a.m. at Lanphier Park. The top five teams advance to the state cross country finals Nov. 9 at DeWeller Park in Peoria.

"We seem to be running better and better," McClain said. "All the girls have run personal bests, which is good to see."

The Warriors have been atop the Metro East pack all year long. With the exception of East St. Louis Lincoln, which is in a class by itself, Granite City is no peer.

"There are no doubt the area's second-best team."

The Warriors were Southwestern Conference champs, St. Louis County kings and second in last weekend's regional at SIU-Edwardsville.

In part, it has been an encore performance from last year. And McClain doesn't mind a bit.

"I think this team is a little better," he said. "Most all of the girls ran most of the summer."

Those extra miles have paid off. The Warriors are producing faster times and even running together as a team, something McClain has worked on.

Granite City is led by Lora Wiser, who has been a very consistent runner this year. In the regionals, Wiser ran an 11:35, pushing Lincoln's Melissa Shy to a new course record. Shy is the only runner to defeat Wiser this year.

Lora has had four very good years," McClain said. "That's kind of unusual for a boy or girl runner. Usually something happens after the first year."

But what makes this year's Warrior team tough is Wiser's supporting cast. To score low team points, it takes more than one runner, and the Warriors have a solid seven, and a good core of five within that group.

"The next four are real close," McClain said. "They usually run as a pack most of the race before they start to pull away."

That's the only way you are going to get better, to stay in constant contact with someone who has beaten you in the past."

Junior Sheila Noel has been Granite City's No. 2 runner all year. A strong competitor, Noel broke the 13-minute mark in the regionals.

Faye Patton, one of four seniors on the team, has become a steady runner for the Warriors. "Faye's having a good senior year," McClain said. "We knew she was a good runner, and this year she has worked hard and improved."

The squad's other senior is Lisa Wiser. A track and volleyball letter winner, this is Wiser's first year for cross country.

And what a first year. Wiser has consistently placed in the top 20 (she was 13th in the regionals). "She has been a big asset for us in that top seven," McClain said.

"They're something," McClain said, almost with a tone of disbelief in his voice. "I can't imagine if they want to run or want a

I-70 Series hangover: Did that really happen?

By GREGG OCHOA
Executive Sports Editor

What happened to those Red Birds? The Cardinals were flying high when John Tudor weaved a three-hit masterpiece in Game Four. But somewhere along the way, the Birds dropped like a stone.

St. Louis was embarrassed Sunday night in the seventh game of the World Series 11-0 by Kansas City. It was the biggest margin of victory in a final game since 1934.

It was a Royal Flush. What made it even worse was that I had to watch it in the company of blue-blooded Royals fans.

Sitting at a tavern at the Holiday Inn in Lakeland, Mo. (in the Missouri Ozarks) I painfully watched Dane Iorg beat the Cardinals in the eighth inning.

Planked by KC rooters who hated my every comment, I was livid when first base umpire Don Denkinger blew the call at first base, giving the Royals life.

My wife, who insists I get too excited about sports anyway, urged me to calm down. I did a little bit but I was still seething red.

Then, Jack Clark misplayed Steve Balboni's pop foul giving the Royal first baseman a new life. From that point on things went from bad to worse.

Darrell Porter's passed ball, Iorg's single. It was brutal. Had I only had known what was going to happen on Sunday, I wouldn't even bothered watching the deciding game. However, I actually thought the Cardinals were going to win.

What made matters worse was having to view both games in enemy territory, as it were. This was unique experience for me.

It's like mentioning you work in Granite City while attending a high school soccer game in Collinsville. You get the idea.

If there is one thing in this country that people hold sacred is their sports teams. We will root for them no matter what.

Forget politics, forget religion. Root against somebody's team and you're in for an argument. Watching those Royal fans react as the Cardinals crumbled like bird seed wasn't a pleasant sight.

Like most fans, especially the arm-chair quarterback types, I tend to get rather vocal on the subject. High blood pressure and the works.

Sportswriters often times profess to be "experts," especially if the home folks are losing. It's easy to say, "Whitley should have changed pitchers," or, "Any idiot knows you can't throw a good hitter a pitch right down the middle."

I still say the series was won in Game Six. However, I also thought that the Cardinals were going to win in five. Predictions are just like White Castle hamburgers: You never know what you are going to get.

The final game got to a point when the group I was with began to laugh at the Cardinals. The played like Moe, Larry and Curly times three. Through it all I learned a bitter lesson last weekend: never let expectations get the best of you.

Who would think that the Cardinals would be done in by a pitcher (Bret Saberhagen) who just barely did enough to sip the sweet taste of the winner's champagne.

Who would think that a shortstop hitting .188 (Buddy Biancalana) would play the series of his life. Thanks for nothing, David Letterman.

Who would think that a power-hitting first baseman (Steve Balboni) would kill the Cardinals with his singles.

On a brighter note, I did discover that Kansas City fans make the better signs than St. Louis.

"The fat lady is only humming."

"The fat lady has changed her tune."

(Those were just a few of the signs that used the "fat lady" theme).

Whitley and his Cards can't beat a Royal Flush.

And perhaps the best one, "For sale: Cold champagne. Call St. Louis Cardinals."

Like many Cardinal fans it was time to cry in one's beer. But at least we had a team to cheer about in the World Series.

As my wife put it, "It's not like you lost a fortune on this."

She's right. Things could be worse. But in the off-season, you can ponder the following.

Polis are already starting as to when new Yankee manager Lou Piniella will be hired, and when Billy Martin will be re-hired. Your guess please.

Which Cardinals will be gone when the NL flag is raised at Busch Stadium in April?

In football, will Big Red coach Jim Hanifan ever give a television interview with his shirt on. Better yet, will his team ever win again.

Perhaps the only saving grace of the "Woeful Weekend" in KC is that Howard Cosell wasn't on hand to describe the goings on.

However, I suspect that somewhere along I-70 Howard was sitting in a rest stop, puffing on a cigar and smiling from ear to ear.

The New Athens kid from right field

It was in the final inning of the 1948 Illinois State High School baseball championship game, held that year at the Meinen Field, a public park owned by the city of Peoria, Ill., and used principally by the Braves of Bradley University.

Battling in that final game for the prep state diamond crown were two long-shots, two teams which weren't given much chance, if any, of capturing the flag: Granite City and New Athens.

The two favorites to win the championship were: a team from Peoria, Manual, and one from Chicago, Nile High.

However, when it came time for the championship game, Granite City and New Athens took the field to play for all the marbles.

Going into the final inning, New Athens held a 1-0 lead, and Granite City had just three more chances to tie it up and an opportunity to win it.

I was there "covering" the game since both Granite City and New Athens were in our area.

What exactly happened I find hard to remember; after all it was 37 years ago, and at age 74, the mind plays tricks on one.

All I can remember is: as Granite City came up for its last time at bat, New Athens held a 1-0 lead and needed just three outs to take the title. The first two Warriors went down easily, one fanning and one popping up.

One more out to go. And, what happened now still must be a nightmare for the young, blond-headed crew cut man playing rightfield for New Athens.

Before you could say "Jimmy Cricket," Granite City had the bases loaded. But, still two outs.

Coming to bat was the Warriors' captain, Carl Linhart.

It's funny how things stick in your mind. I believe the count went to 3 and 2 when Linhart lifted a high pop fly to right field.

It looked like an easy out for the cotton topped kid playing in right field for New Athens. It sure looked like curtains for the Warriors of Granite City and their coach, the late Lawrence McCauley.

And, then it happened. Wonders of wonders, alas and alack, the kid dropped the ball and three runs scored, which was enough for Granite City to win it, but they added another one, just for safety's sake, to win it.

The kid from New Athens who dropped that ball was: Dorrel Norman Elvert (Whitley) Herzog.

Conrad (Babe) Champion, who

Sports of all Sorts

By Al Barnes

coached baseball at Granite City until his retirement several years back, was a member of that Warrior championship team, explained to me a couple of years ago. "Whitley must have lost the ball in the lights."

But now, after 37 years, all I can remember about that play was my feeling of relief when I interviewed him that the boy took the blame and didn't excuse his misuse and consequent loss of the game on the lights. "I just missed it," was all that he would say, but hardly able to conceal his hurt at the New Athens loss.

A kid like that will go a long way.

Park district plans banquet for Nov. 14

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The park district's annual Sports Award Banquet has been scheduled for Nov. 14. It was announced Oct. 23.

The banquet will be held at 6:15 p.m. at the Granite City Township Building. The district is trying to line up appearances by former baseball Cardinals Mike Shannon, Dal Maxvill and Joe Hoerner. Maxvill is now general manager of the team.

Letters have been sent to managers of all the park baseball teams and the winners of the Park District Traditional Tennis Tournament, requesting their attendance. It was decided to charge $3 per person.

BILL BURNS CAFETERIA will serve the meal, consisting of fried chicken, mashed potatoes, green beans, corn, bread, butter and dessert.

Maxvill, a native of Granite City, was the shortstop for the Cardinals' 1967 World Series champions and the 1968 National League champions. He also played second base in the 1964 World Series, which the Cardinals also won. He was named Cardinal general manager earlier this year.

Shannon, a native St. Louisan, also played on the Cardinals' championship teams in the 1960s as a right fielder and third baseman. He has just completed his 14th year on the Cardinal broadcasting team on KMOX Radio.

Hoerner pitched for the Cardinals in the late 1960s.

BROWN SET TO RETIRE
Harold Brown is set to retire — again — this time as interim director of the park district. The district has hired Steve Kessel as the new director.

Brown will end his eight weeks of work Nov. 1. He and the board agreed Oct. 23 that Brown would work six more days over the next two months, with one of his main tasks being to help Kessel get to know the job.

The board voted to increase Brown's expense payment by $50 a month. He had received $100 for each four weeks. He also will receive $125 per day for each day he works after Nov. 1 and will receive prorated expenses for each day based on $150 per month ($7.50 per day).

"IT'S BEEN A VERY hard eight weeks for me, leaving home at 6:30 a.m. and not getting home until 6:30 p.m.," Brown said (the lives in Wright City, Mo.). "This makes for very long days."

"I feel I have helped the park district in many areas, and I can only say for sure that the park district has changed in many ways. It's great to retire again."

SURGETTE...
We Make Surgery Convenient For You

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

When a person sustains a personal injury resulting from someone else's negligence, the injured party is often faced with a decision of whether to settle the case or take it to trial. Many times an insurance company will offer the victim a sum of money to settle out of Court, and the question arises as to whether it is in his best interest to accept it.

In one recent case, a person was in an automobile accident and sustained neck and back injuries. He was treated at the emergency room and then received follow-up care from his family physician. He eventually wound up treating with a chiropractor and missed several weeks of work. His medical bills and lost wages totaled $2500, and the insurance company offered him $7500 to settle. Should he accept this sum or allow a jury to decide the damages in his case?

There are certain advantages to taking a case to trial. One advantage is that a jury will often award more money to the victim than has previously been offered by the insurance company. Furthermore, if a person settles and signs a release, he forever discharges all parties from any further responsibility for his injuries. Taking the case to trial can keep the case open longer so that the victim has more time to determine the exact nature of his injuries.

One disadvantage to taking the case to trial involves the delay in the Court process. A major personal injury case could take as much as three to four years to go to trial. Many people do not want to wait this long. In addition, there is expense in preparing a case for trial. There are Court costs involved, the expense of depositions which are sworn statements taken prior to trial, and the cost of having an expert witness come to Court to testify. Finally, many victims do not want to go to trial because they are fearful of taking the witness stand and because they do not want to miss work to appear in Court.

In light of these considerations, whether it is best to settle depends upon the facts in each given situation. The victim in our example decided to accept the offer and avoid the hassle of taking it to Court. It is probably best to consult with one's attorney before making a decision in any particular case.

World Community Day Friday at Trinity United Methodist

Quad-City Church Women United's 1985 World Community Day will be observed here Friday, Nov. 1. The local service will be hosted by Trinity United Methodist, E. 25th and Henry streets, at 1 p.m. The Rev. Michael Smith is host pastor and Mrs. Sharon Smith and Mrs. Mae Lee are serving as co-chairmen.

Quad-Citians participating in this service will include Paula Lewis, musician, Wanda Robeff, song leader, and Rev. Smith, soloist, from Trinity; Ruth Lelk and Lena Seitzer, CWU president-elect, representing Central Christian; Marion Pierson and Louise Anderson, Nameoki Presbyterian; Ruth Jensen, treasurer-elect, and Jan Kennerly, St. John United Church of Christ; Florence Simpson and Dorothy Kinney, 3rd Baptist; Dolores Vogeler, Niedringhaus Methodist; Angie Hull, Salvation Army; Ethel Palm, Mount Nebo; and Gladys Williams, and Ola Jones, president, from the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church.

President Ola Jones is extending an invitation to the general public to attend the service.

World Community Day is a national observance sponsored annually by Church Women United to unite Christian women in an ecumenical experience. It focuses on issues of world peace and women's individual and collective part in that process.

This year's service, written by churchwomen from the farm belt of America — Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa and North and South Dakota — is entitled "Harvest of Blessings."

It expresses values born of closeness to and reverence for the earth that produces food for the hungry of the world. The service also reflects the challenge felt by rural women as they recount their blessings, their feelings about their family, home and land, and their responsibilities in a broadened world consciousness.

World Community Day, first observed in 1943 as a "peace day," grew out of CWU's search for ways women could bring about enduring world peace with justice. Church Women United is regarded as a unique movement that brings Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox women together into "one Christian community of prayer, advocacy and service."

The church women represent a wide spectrum of religious tradition, race, age, economic status and ethnic background. They work through a national unit, 52 state units (Illinois has 110 units) and 1,800 local units.

World Community Day offerings make possible, in part, the mission of CWU, including national and international projects in support of the empowerment of women, human rights, justice and peace.

Belleville Area College's academic advising program received national recognition recently for its outstanding student programs and services. BAC received two national merit awards for Outstanding Academic Advising Program and Outstanding Academic Advisor in the 1985 recognition program sponsored by the American College Testing Program and the National Academic Advising Association. Ray Moddrell, dean of student development and counseling at BAC's Granite City Campus, was one of 43 persons who received a certificate of merit for outstanding achievement in academic advising. The Outstanding Academic Advisor award was given to nominees who have demonstrated evidence of effective advising qualities and practices associated with outstanding academic advising of students. Nominees are evaluated on the following criteria: demonstration of a caring attitude toward advisees; effective interpersonal skills;

BAC receives recognition for programs and services availability to advisees; frequency of contact with advisees; seeking out advisees in informal settings; intrusive behavior designed to build a strong relationship with advisees; monitoring of student progress toward academic and career goals; mastery of institutional regulations, policies and procedures; use of appropriate information sources; appropriate referral activity; ability to engage in developmental advising versus simply course scheduling; attendance at and support of advisor development programs; perception by colleagues of nominee's advising skills; evidence of student success rate; and institutional recognition of nominee for outstanding advising. BAC was one of 19 educational institutions that received a certificate of merit for its outstanding academic advising program. Dennis Sparr, BAC's dean for counseling, said BAC's counseling program received the award because of its excellent program. Excellence in BAC's advising is no accident, he said. The college's counseling staff began searching for a more effective program several years ago, he said. In the spring of 1984, ACT's Assessment of Skills for Successful Entry and Transfer placement testing and orientation program was tailored to BAC and then implemented. "We adopted ASSET because it is efficient, flexible and success-oriented," Sparr said. "ASSET offers the most systematic, humanistic and positive approach available for helping students begin college."

The main thing is to get students into the right courses during their first semester. If they're successful their first semester, they're likely to be successful the rest of the time they're at BAC. BAC Counselor Don Libby said early research shows the program is working. The doors it opens for improved advising are endless, he said. "ASSET means proper course placement, orientation and advisement," Libby said. "As counselors, we can be more factual about what counseling and advising has always done by educated guesswork. We can be more specific in our recommendations, much more refined in our data."

For example, after the first semester the test was first given, the college discovered the need for additional remedial reading courses. Three courses were added: English Fundamentals, Study Skills and Developmental Reading Skills III. These courses were integrated into the BAC schedule and are helping students improve reading skills so they can handle college-level material. "We'll be able to compare test scores with specific classes and determine if there is a correlation between reading skills and the course," Libby said. "For example, we can determine if a student needs to succeed in a technical field like aviation electronics."

"We'll know when to have teachers intervene to help students," Libby added. "We can even see if one teacher is doing something different and how that affects the students. This is factual information teachers can use to more accurately assess what's going on."

ASSET results can even be used to help instructors select textbooks, Libby said. ASSET is a three-and-a-half-hour program that not only assesses students' academic skills but also introduces students to BAC services, including financial aid, student activities, athletics and career planning. Students develop individual educational plans and goals. The program brings with participants filling out an educational planning form. This is followed by short — 11 to 20-minute — tests of language usage and reading and numerical skills. An orientation to the college, including a slide show, is presented and Success Packets are distributed. The packets include information on BAC services and names and phone numbers of contact persons throughout the college. After a break, a 25-minute mathematics test is given. It is not possible to fail an ASSET test. The tests simply determine the best level for each student to begin his or her studies at BAC. Approximately 1,000 individuals have taken the ASSET test since its introduction at BAC.

SIUE announces deadline for new graduate fellowships

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has announced the deadline for National Science Foundation minority graduate fellowships and graduate fellowship programs. According to Vaughnie J. Lindsay, dean of Graduate Studies and Research at the University, the closing date for applications for both fellowship programs is Nov. 15, with recipients to be announced next March. The purpose of the National Science Foundation minority graduate fellowships is to increase the number of practicing scientists who are members of groups which traditionally have been underrepresented in the advanced levels of science and engineering. The program is open only to applicants who are citizens or nationals of the U.S. at the time of application and who are members of an ethnic minority (i.e., American Indian, Black, Hispanic, native Alaskan or native Pacific Islander).

Both the minority graduate fellowships and the graduate fellowships will be made to individuals who have demonstrated ability and special aptitude for advanced training in science or engineering. People who hold permanent resident status are not eligible. Both types of fellows are awarded for three years of study leading to master's and doctoral degrees in the mathematical, physical, biological, engineering and social sciences, as well as in the history and philosophy of science. To be eligible for either program, applicants must not have completed more than 30 quarter hours, 20 semester hours, or their equivalent of graduate study in the science and engineering fields at the beginning of the current school term. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE Graduate School at 1-692-3162.

SIUE theater season to open Oct. 31

"The Roar of the Greasepaint — The Smell of the Crowd" will open the 20th major production season of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville University Theater, Thursday, Oct. 31, at 8:15 p.m. in the Communications Building Theater. The show will run for two weekends, same curtain time, Nov. 1 and 2 and 7 and 9, and a closing performance is scheduled at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 10. The French stylist, Leslie Bricusse, and the British wit, Anthony Newley, collaborated on the book, music and lyrics for the show. It centers on a pair of musical rogues, who passionately play the game of life knowing the dice are loaded.

The leading roles of Sir and Cocky will be played by Jeff Harrison (Wood River) and Peter Reynolds (Belleville). Both were acclaimed for their work during the University's recent "Summer Show Biz '85." Cheri Muschany (Sunset Hills, Mo.) as the Kid, Bernice Weber (Highland) as the Girl, Demetrius Shaw (Edwardsville) as the Negro, and Eric Barnett (Edwardsville) as the Bully take the other principal parts. All are veterans of past University Theater ventures. The Urchins are played by Melissa Bollinger, Annalee Boyd, Stephanie Strohmman, Courtney Roberson, Holly McCarty, Nichol Shoewels, and Michele Hagercraft. J. Calvin Jarrell will direct and choreograph, with musical direction by Brad Hofeditz. Charles Ols Sweeney is creating the sets; the lighting is by Philip Johnson, and costumes by Reta Samples. Jody Harrison is the assistant director. Tickets are $6 for adults, $5 for seniors, $4 for SIUE faculty, staff, alumni and students, and $3 for children under 12. Free parking is available behind the theater building. Reservations for the show or subscriptions to the entire season are available by calling 1-692-2773 or by mail to the SIUE Department of Theater and Dance, Box 1777, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill., 62026-1777.

Barbara McDonnell, assistant professor of nursing at the university, will be the project director. The purpose of the grant is to upgrade the perinatal knowledge and skills of nursing faculty in the St. Louis metropolitan area, and in Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, Oklahoma, Kentucky and Tennessee. According to Patricia Forni, dean of the School, the project will culminate in a three-week intensive classroom and clinical course to be offered from June 16 through July 3 next year. The course will include instruction by expert faculty drawn from large medical centers and will include such topics as high-risk maternal/infant transport, high-risk clinics, intensive delivery room and nursery care, and follow-up community programs for high-risk mothers and infants. Enrollment for the course will be limited to 12 nurse educators. Additional information may be obtained by contacting the SIUE School of Nursing at 1-692-3960 or by writing Barbara McDonnell, School of Nursing, SIUE, Box 66, Edwardsville, Ill., 62026-1001.

Zoning request to be reconsidered

By SUSANNE INDELICATO

PONTON BEACH—A zoning request for an auto body and repair shop will be reconsidered by the Village Board of Trustees. It was decided Tuesday.

Ronald Martin, owner of Ronnie's Sunoco, 3940 Pontoon Road, wanted property at 4001 Pontoon Road zoned B-2 general business, instead of its current B-1 community business. A vacant, Clark service station occupies the property.

The zoning was ruled denied Oct. 22 because it didn't receive two-thirds approval by the Village Board. Two trustees voted against the zoning, while three voted for it. One board member was absent.

But Trustee Lou Whitsett said the zoning request did not require a two-thirds majority vote because no objections were legally filed with the Village Board. A resident did speak against the zoning, Oct. 22, but Whitsett said he never filed a written objection. Two-thirds approval is required when a written objection to a zoning request is filed with the board, Whitsett said. Also, not all surrounding property owners were notified of the zoning hearing, officials said. Clyde Counts, who owns a vacant lot across from Martin's property, was not notified of the zoning hearing.

Resident Glen Wilson instructed the village clerk to notify surrounding property owners, including Counts, and schedule another zoning hearing.

In other action, the Village Board granted two business licenses Tuesday. Herman Schoeber was granted a license to operate Tri-City Canvas Products at 4060 Pontoon Road for two months until his building is built in Granite City.

Brenda Tankley, Lori Tankley, Carlene Wirth, Patty Leazy and Ronda Whittington were given a business license to operate Personal Time Saving Services at 3939 Lake Drive. The business will run errands, deliver messages, cater to a zoning request is filed with the board, Whitsett said. Also, not all surrounding property owners were notified of the zoning hearing, officials said. Clyde Counts, who owns a vacant lot across from Martin's property, was not notified of the zoning hearing.

PAID FOR BY THE COMMITTEE TO ELECT LAHR FOR SCHOOL BOARD, DAVID PARTNEY, TREASURER

WHY DOES MAYOR VON DEE CRUSE CLAIM HE'S NOT ANTI-LABOR?
Representatives of the Granite City administration have earned their livings from union men and women but demand that the city street department employees get no wage increases and give back benefits and working conditions.
OUR CITY, WHICH HAS NO MONEY FOR RAISES, REMODELS THE MAYOR'S OFFICE.
OUR CITY, WHICH HAS NO MONEY FOR RAISES, INCREASES THE PAY OF THE CONTROLLER AND ASSISTANT TO THE MAYOR.
OUR CITY, WHICH HAS NO MONEY FOR RAISES, PAYS EMPLOYEES TO ASSIST THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.
OUR CITY, WHICH HAS NO MONEY FOR RAISES, APPOINTS AN OUTSIDE NEGOTIATOR TO REPRESENT THE CITY IN NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE STREET DEPARTMENT UNIONS.
OUR CITY, WHICH HAS NO MONEY FOR RAISES, SENT OFFICIALS TO ATTEND MEETINGS AND CONFERENCES AT CITY EXPENSE.
In an attempt to solve the many problems confronting the city and its employees, the Tri-City Trades Council tried to arrange a meeting with Mayor Cruse. The Mayor agreed twice to meet with the council but each time failed to appear.
The street department employees want to settle the negotiations and get back to serving the city. We ask that our friends and fellow union members call their aldermen and alderwomen and ask them to ask the City Council to negotiate a fair agreement for the city and the street department employees.

Ghouls are seen in Chouteau hall

By RACHEL NEWSOME

Chouteau Township employees were "terrorized" by 80 gruesome creatures, invading the township hall Sunday.

One creature claimed he was from the planet Voltron. Where is that? Believe it or not, most explained they survive quite comfortably here on earth. Namely, Rainbow Bright, Rambo and punk rockers.

The creatures also included (according to human description) vampires, wolves, cat-people, gnomes and space-age monsters. Their ages ranged from 2 to 12 years old.

After employees determined the majority of the creatures were quite harmless, they befriended them with hot dogs, soda and a variety of snacks.

Also, it was proposed that a contest be held to determine a humanistic opinion on each creature's appearance. Eight to 10 winners were chosen in each age category by judges.

Who knows, maybe reincarnation, rising from the dead and other forms of life in space are more than just theories.

Wow! These creatures sure would be fun at Halloween time!

Home fuel aid applications to be taken

From Nov. 1 to Nov. 30, the Madison County Community Development Energy Assistance office will be accepting Illinois Home Energy Assistance Program (IHEAP) applications from households which are disconnected or are classified as elderly or handicapped.

Six intake sites serving this area will be taking applications.

Persons wishing to apply should contact the nearest intake site for an appointment, according to Nelson Hagnauer, chairman of the Madison County Board.

Only households which are disconnected or which are classified as elderly or handicapped households will be allowed to apply during November.

Starting Dec. 1, 1985, the Madison County Community Development Energy Assistance office will take and process applications from all interested households in Madison County.

Persons applying for home energy assistance must provide proof of income from all household members 90 days prior to the application date, a copy of their primary and secondary energy bill, and Social Security numbers for all household members.

Persons completing an application for energy assistance are not guaranteed that funding will be available or that their household will receive assistance.

The Illinois Home Energy Assistance Program is designed to help income-eligible households meet the rising cost of home energy.

Applications for home energy assistance are processed on a first-come, first-served basis. Home energy assistance payments made to eligible households are approved on a one-time basis. Income guidelines for this program are as follows:

One person in household, $1,641 gross income for 90 days prior to application date.
Two persons, $2,203.
Three, $2,766.
Four, $3,328.
Five, $3,891.
Six, $4,453.
Seven, $5,016.
Eight, $5,578.

Persons having general questions regarding the IHEAP program may contact the Madison County Community Development Energy Assistance office at 1-800-252-8643, extension 5105, or the State of Illinois Energy Hotline at 1-800-252-8643.

Intake sites handling emergency applications on a walk-in basis and IHEAP applications by appointment only include the Madison County Urban League of Venice, 3rd and Jackson streets, W. Madison 62060 (877-9860) 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

Also, Co-ordinated Youth Services of Granite City, 1254 Niedringhaus Ave., Granite City 62040 (877-2283 or 452-1380) 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Intake sites for the elderly and handicapped, by appointment only, include Madison County Senior Citizens, 3512 McArthur, Alton 62002 (465-3298) 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday.

Intake sites here for IHEAP applications only, by appointment only, are: Chouteau Township, 697a N.

Free diabetes tests on Friday

As part of National Diabetes Month, St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City and the Greater St. Louis Affiliate of the American Diabetes Association are offering free diabetes screening tests to community residents Friday, Nov. 1, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. The screening will take place in Pachel Hall on the first floor of the medical center.

Diabetes is the nation's third leading cause of death by disease and the number one cause of new blindness. People at greatest risk of developing diabetes are overweight, over 35 years of age and have blood relatives with the disease.

For an accurate test, persons must have eaten at least 100 grams of carbohydrates two hours prior to the test. They must not eat or drink anything else, except water, in the two-hour period preceding the test.

Venice man to serve prison term

Aaron Vickers Jr., 35, of 43 Venice Homes, Venice, must serve three years in prison and pay $90 in court costs following his sentencing Oct. 21 by Madison County Circuit Judge Charles Chapman.

Vickers was charged with burglary June 20 after he was found hiding in the cabinet under a sink at the Madison Board of Education office.

An alarm system alerted police, who found a pry bar and a glass broken, allowing the suspect to open the lock and enter the building.

Granite City man receives probation for plea on attempted sexual abuse

A Granite City man must serve 2½ years' probation and perform 200 hours of public service work following his guilty plea Sept. 27 to attempted aggravated criminal sexual abuse.

Michael J. Messick, 26, of 2141 Cleveland Blvd. must also pay $95 in court costs, as ordered by Madison County Associate Judge Charles V. Roman.

Messick was charged Sept. 9 with aggravated criminal sexual assault involving an incident Sept. 6 when Granite City police were called to a Granite City home where Messick reportedly had been staying.

A couple residing in the dwelling said they were having a small party in the backyard while their two children were asleep in the living room. Messick went into the house, they said.

When a relative also went inside the house, he alleged that Messick was fondling one of the children, a 5-year-old girl who was sleeping on the couch.

The child's father was told and attempted to stop Messick from leaving. Officers later found Messick sitting at a Granite City bus stop.

BATTERY ARREST MADE

James Jones, 20, of 3119 Rodger Ave. was arrested Oct. 22 for battery and disorderly conduct and was freed on $154 bail. It was alleged he pushed Irma Jones of the same address, threw her against a wall and kicked her in the back. He allegedly threw items at her for much of the afternoon before the arrest.
